Mokena To Get $69,308

THE AMERICAN WAY!

Federal Grant to Aid In Building Village Sewage Disposal Unit

The Mokena village board now has the green light for proceeding with its sewer project.

Mayor John Scarth has received written word from federal authorities that a grant of $69,308.70 has been awarded to Mokena under the Federal Pollution Control Act.

Under this act communities are granted funds to help defray the cost of sewage treatment plants as a means of eliminating pollution of streams.

Mokena's sewage now finds its way into Hickory creek. The state is making an earnest effort to rid this stream of pollution and is endeavoring to get communities that use it for sewage disposal to build treatment plants. Joliet also is complaining to the state that the use of Hickory creek for sewage is creating a nuisance in that community.

Mokena to Elect Mayor, Clerk, 3 Trustees, and Magistrate Tuesday

Voters in Mokena will go to the polls next Tuesday, April 16 to elect a mayor, village clerk, three trustees and a police magistrate.

There is a contest on for mayor and trustees but the incumbent village clerk, Alvin S. Sorensen, and police Magistrate John Balaz are without opposition. There are two tickets, Independent No. 1 and Independent No. 2.

The present mayor, John Scarth, was not a candidate for reelection, explaining that increased responsibilities in his private business would not enable him to continue with his duties to the village.

Candidates for mayor are James G. Marti, on Independent No. 1 ticket, and George H. Bills on Independent No. 2. Marti is president of the Mokena volunteer fire department. He is employed as an installer of air conditioning equipment. Bills is advertising manager of Dutch Brands, a subsidiary of Johns-Mannville Corporation. He is active in community affairs and past president of the Mokena Civic Association. He has been serving on the village board of trustees and his term as such is expiring this year.

On the ticket with Bills are, Sorensen for clerk, and for trustees, David McMillan, who is seeking re-election; Elias A. Brown, a member of the Welsch Lumber Co. firm, and Warren B. Manker, a mechanical engineer for the Master Supply Co. Joliet. There is no candidate for police magistrate on this ticket.

On the ticket with Marti, John Balaz, is seeking re-election as police magistrate but there is no candidate for clerk. Candidates for trustees are, Philip C. Hacker, a carpenter contractor who has served previously on the village board; Stanley R. Williams, who is manager of communications for an air freight line in Chicago, and Charles N. Hostert, an aviation mechanic at Midway airport.

The village hall will serve as the polling place and will be open as such from 6 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Area Students On Dean's Honor List At Lewis College

Two area students of Lewis College, Lockport, are on the dean's honor list for the winter quarter that ended last month, announces Dr. James W. Keating, dean of the college.

The students are John Huttenhoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Huttenhoff, of 505 N. Cedar New Lenox; and William Matthews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Matthews, 11213 W. 192nd Mokena.

To qualify for the honor list, students must have a "B" average or better.

Area Voters To Elect School Boards Saturday

There will be school elections throughout the area Saturday but all indications point to light votes as there are few contests.

Mokena's school board is asking for an increase in the building fund tax rate from eight and three-quarters cents per $100 of equalized assessed valuation to 18 and three quarters cents. With two schools to maintain the current rate is no longer adequate, the board pointed out.

Two board members will be elected also. There are but two candidates, Robert O. Geuther and Lyman F. Teague, both incumbents.

Two ballots will be given out to the Mokena voters. Voting will be from 12 noon to 7 o'clock and the Carpenter street school will serve as the polling place.

Four are to be elected to the New Lenox village school board, two for three year terms and two for one year, filling out unexpired terms. There is no contest for the two one-year terms, there being but two candidates, Eugene McGovney and Llew H. Eggers, but there are five seeking the two three-year seats, Roy Fitzer, Harold K. Doerring, Robert F. Facinelli, Gerald D. Shreffler and William DeLine. Fitzer and McGovney are the only incumbents.

Haven school, New Lenox, will serve as polling place. (Continued to page 16)

Southwest Area Students Enter Music Festival

The number of participants that could be selected for this festival was based on the enrollment of the high school for massed chorus and on enrollment of each individual band for massed band. Selections were then made, keeping a balanced instrumentation.

Outstanding students from each of the schools will form a massed chorus of 300 voices and 125 piece band. Music will be learned in advance. Rehearsals, both sectional and full will be held on Thursday evening April 11, and the following afternoon. Social activities for the students will follow the afternoon rehearsal and the concert will be presented Friday night at 8:00 p.m. in the Evergreen Park Community High school gym.

FEDERAL GRANT:-

and that body gave approval to Mokena's request for a federal grant.

The mayor received a letter from Dr. Harold M. Graning, regional medical director for the federal government, and also a missive from Congressman Noah Mason, that the grant of $69,308 had been approved for Mokena. Congressman Mason received his information from the office of the Surgeon General at Washington.

Forms were enclosed which the village board will fill out to complete the arrangements for receipt of the grant.

From the plans submitted to federal authorities it was estimated that the Mokena sewage treatment plant and lift station, on the construction of which the grant is figured, will cost $231,029. The entire project, which includes trunklines and laterals with leads to the property line, will cost about $408,000, it was estimated.

Federal authorities informed the mayor that if the contractor's figures vary appreciably from the estimates that an adjustment would be made in the grant.

At a referendum the people of Mokena voted $100,000 of general obligation bonds to meet the cost of construction of the sewer system. The village also has approximately $8,000 on hand that can be applied on the cost. Thus the village would issue approximately $231,000 in water and sewer revenue bonds to pay for the project.

Robert Hamilton, village engineer on the project, is pushing work on the working drawings and specifications for the sewers and the disposal plant and lift station and hopes to have them completed by the end of the month so that contractors can be invited to submit bids.

Hamilton estimates that it will take contractors approximately 30 days in which to prepare figures. On such a schedule contracts could be let in June.

Under a provision connected with the federal grant a contract must be let by July 1.

Last week it was announced that the village had an option on a site for the sewage plant on Wolf road, south of the village at the northeast corner of Sunny Acres subdivision. The property, which has a frontage of 415 feet on Wolf road and extends west for 346 feet, is owned by Mac Bottema. The property cost him $6,000 and he is selling it to the village for that figure. The village will pay the costs that will accrue thru the transfer, according to the agreement. The legal aspects of the project are in the hands of Village Attorney Ray Hoolehan.

Chicago Safety Program Stresses Cooperation

By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

WITH JUSTIFIABLE PRIDE, citizens of Chicago point to a safety program that might well serve as a pattern for other large cities in the United States.

From 1949 through 1952, Chicago had the poorest safety record of any major city in the country. Today it ranks near the top.

In 1953, interested Chicagoans joined forces with police officials, traffic engineers, courts and other municipal organizations with one objective in mind — to make their city the safest in the country.

And it appears that they are nearing their goal. Chicago has received several safety awards recently. What's more, it is the only major city to show a continuous reduction in traffic fatalities from 1953 through 1956, despite ever increasing motor vehicle registration. The outlook for 1957 looks equally as promising, claims Timothy J. O'Connor, Chicago commissioner of police.

According to O'Connor, much of the credit for this successful safety record is due to the work of the Citizens Traffic Safety Board, a privately financed organization composed of business and industrial leaders.

This organization, says O'Connor, was organized to stimulate all governmental actions which would improve the flow of traffic. Through educational and promotional materials directed at motorists and pedestrians, it encourages proper law observance and courteous driving to keep accidents at a minimum.

Achievements of this civic-minded group include:

1. Development of one-way streets. (By 1956, 366.2 miles of streets in Chicago had been restricted to one-way travel.)
2. More vigorous prosecution and realistic sentencing of traffic violators.
3. Encouragement and recognition of good police work in traffic.
4. Prohibition of parking on major streets to improve traffic flow.
5. Production and distribution of educational aids in areas where it is needed.

Among the awards Chicago has won for these improvements, and for its excellent safety record, are the National Traffic Safety award, The American Bar Association award for improvement in city traffic courts and the Institute of Traffic Engineers annual award for efforts in highway engineering and construction work.

The National Safety Council recently cited Chicago for its low-accident record, public safety education and safety organization.

"Official agencies can't do it alone," says Commissioner O'Connor. "They need the complete support of public-spirited citizens. And in Chicago, we've got it!"

Civic Group Invites Public To Defense Talk

Civil defense will be discussed before the Mokena Civic Association at its regular meeting next Tuesday night, April 16, at 8 o'clock in the VFW hall and the speaker will be Col. Paul Stokesberry who is in charge of the Civil Air Patrol for Group 8, which includes the Mokena area. The public is invited.

There are 11 squadrons in the Civil Air Patrol in Group 8 and Col. Stokesberry will explain its purpose and the part it plays in civil defense.

Col. Stokesberry was a civilian quartermaster in World War II and is now serving the American Research Testing Laboratories as a chemist and director. He also has been associated with the Boy Scout movement for many years.

In view of unsettled world conditions great emphasis is being placed on civil defense by the national government so Col. Stokesberry's appearance here is looked upon as timely. He is expected to tell of the opportunities afforded by the Civil Air Patrol in aiding defense plans, especially for those young people who are interested in aviation.

The meeting is open to the public and those in charge are hopeful for a large attendance.

Red Cross Fund Drive Short of Goal in County

Volunteer Red Cross solicitors to date have collected about $56,000 in the 1957 campaign. This is still far short of the goal needed for both local and national services. In Will County more than 800 Will County servicemen and veterans, or their families received assistance in 1956, and in addition to this many classes were held throughout the county in First Aid, Home Care of the Sick, and in Swimming and Life Saving. The chapter also is set up for disaster relief and serves as the local agency representative of the Travelers Aid Society of America. Many volunteers work each week at Hines hospital with the chapter furnishing transportation and supplies.

Storms have occurred in the past two weeks bringing death and serious injuries to hundreds of people in addition to destruction of thousands of homes. Red Cross chapters have been activated in many communities to provide food, shelter, and medical care including many nurses.

"There are no government subsidies," he added. "Everyone can help keep the Red Cross ready by contributing during the annual fund campaign now in progress. This is the most serious crisis for the Red Cross in its long disaster service history. Mrs. Gordon Spiess is fund chairman in Mokena; and Mrs. John Oster is chairman of the campaign in New Lenox.

"This terribly big federal budget-biggest ever in peace time history," Molly was saying. "We're all protesting to our Congressmen-but what can be done?"

"Plenty!" George was emphatic. "It can be cut-by not spending for a lot of things!" Molly sat in thought for a moment.

"It reminds me," she began, "of when we were first married. We were going to be thrifty, so we set up a budget for all our expenses."

George laughed. "Yes, and a lot of good it did, remember? We 'budgetted' way over my salary, because in every budget item we had a lot of things we thought we couldn't possibly do without."

"I remember," Molly smiled. "And it wasn't till we really started going without them that we began living within our income."

"And we didn't suffer. We got along nicely, and even saved money!"

"Sure. The lesson we learned to our benefit, was that the only way to save money is not to spend it—a lesson our Government's got to learn!"

Bacon Hints and Shortcuts

By Marie Gifford

Have trouble separating →
bacon slices?

Here's an easy way to do it without tearing or stretching the bacon.

Slip a rubber spatula under the right end of each slice and "cut" from right to left, gently lifting to remove top slice.

← No watching, no turning, no draining—when you bake bacon!

Arrange slices on rack in shallow baking pan with fat edge of one strip over-lapping lean of the next strip. Bake in a 400° F. oven for 12 to 15 minutes. Slices will be evenly cooked without turning.

1. Perfect bacon is crisp but not brittle—evenly cooked from end to end.
2. Buy bacon by brand—your greatest assurance of quality.
3. Buy just enough bacon for your family's weekly needs.
4. Do not freeze bacon. Keep unused portion well wrapped and in the refrigerator.
5. For bacon in a jiffy, cook whole package of bacon in advance. Drain on absorbent paper and wrap in foil. Store in refrigerator, ready for quick reheating.
6. Do not limit bacon to breakfast meals. It's delightful served with vegetables, soups and salads for luncheon and dinner.
7. Save and use flavorful bacon drippings for soups, sauces and for seasoning and frying other foods.

Thought for the Day

Read II Corinthians 5:11-16
Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation. (II Corinthians 6:2)

We do God's will when we listen and obey the call of God. Abraham did the will of God when he left Ur of the Chaldees and set out toward Canaan. Moses did the will of God when he led the oppressed Hebrew people out of Egypt. All the true prophets were obedient to the will of God by their faithful witness. Jesus did the will of God by his fidelity to the way of the cross.

In Europe during the medieval times, men sought to do the will of God by erecting magnificent cathedrals in the name of Christ. Craftsmen sought to honor and obey God by producing stained-glass windows of highest excellence. By being true to "the soul's invincible surmise," Christopher Columbus was an instrument in the hands of God to widen the horizons for all mankind.

God is speaking to us this Lenten season. Will we obey? Will we identify ourselves with the cause of God in the earth? Will we speak in His name? Dare we be true to the way of the cross?

PRAYER

O God, our heavenly Father, in obedience to Thee we find true peace. Help us to be true to Thee this day. May we ever be worthy followers of Thy Son Jesus Christ. We ask it in His name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
God is calling to me; I will answer and obey.

Sportabout

Jack Maypole

Here's good news for you folks who are planning on opening that summer cottage soon. Remember all the trouble you had with flies and mosquitoes? And how those pesky insects would get into the screened-in porch and buzz around the lights? Well, you're not going to have that trouble this year—according to a report I've read. Seems there's a new insect repellent on the market that works. Name is tabutrex and it's been tested over and over again in homes, on farms for stable flies—been tested in dairy barns and they claim they've been getting fine results. One of the nicest things about it is that it's colorless and has no odor. So, look into this and try it out. I know you'll have complete freedom from ants, roaches, flies, mosquitoes and other pests.

One of the first things you'll want to get done will be the tuning-up of the outboard motor. Here's a few tips for that job: First—remove the plugs, clean and regap. Lubricate the cylinders. Ground spark plug leads and pull the motor over a couple of times to distribute the lubricant. Second—clean points with hard, absorbent paper. Readjust points to 0.020 clearance. If points are badly pitted, replace them. (Very important.) Third—remove grease plugs and drain lubricant, checking it for water. Refill from bottom vent until lubricant runs out of top vent. Oil and grease all external linkage. Fourth—inspect propeller and drive pin and replace if necessary smoothness is present. (And it should be!) If no point retouching is necessary, wipe all exterior parts of the engine with an oily cloth. And there you are! All set for another summer of boating fun.

Final Registration For Baseball Teams Wednesday, April 17

Boys who have not as yet registered to play on Tinley Park baseball teams, still have a chance to register. Final registration will be held between 7 and 9 p.m. Wednesday, April 17, in the Tinley Park school.

Boys aegs 8 thru 12 years old will play on Small Fry teams and boys 13 thru 15, on pony league teams, of which there will be at least four. There are openings for more boys, especially on pony league teams.

Who Will Fill These Vacant Chairs

Who will fill these chairs at the Tinley Park council table is a question that will be answered by the voters next Tuesday. The only two members of the village board who are holdovers are shown here, Robert Lillie (left) and Oswald Tattum. At the head of the table is the mayor's seat while the four chairs in the foreground will be filled by the new council members. There are contests for all places.

Rising Costs May Force Ingalls Hospital to Cut Building Program

When contractors' bids for the expansion of Ingalls Memorial hospital were opened it was discovered that the cost of hospital construction has zoomed to new altitudes.

Low bidder was Dahl Stedman Co., 7 S. Dearborn, Chicago, one of six firms which submitted bids to the hospital. Two of the eight contractors invited to make bids withdrew.

The Stahl-Stedman bid set the cost of the hospital construction at $2,407,374.

Other costs, which would include equipment, necessary remodeling, architect fees, and site survey, would total $463,442, bringing the total cost of the project to $2,870,816.

That means the hospital building program will cost $680,816 more than the original estimate of $2,190,000.

Ingalls Memorial now has on hand or pledged approximately $1,800,000, about $1,000,000 short of what it needs.

According to Herman C. Hoekstra, board president and drive chairman, the hospital may have to defer some portions of its building program until additional funds can be raised.

"Public support for the hospital program and its fund drive is needed now more than ever," Hoekstra affirmed.

Subdivider Gives Land for Grade Schools

A donation of land for two new schools in south suburban Country Club Hills has been announced by J. E. Merrion & Company, which is building homes in the new community near Homewood.

The company has donated five acres to School District 160 and will give five acres to the Chicago Archdiocese at 179th Street and Kostner ave. for a public and a Catholic grade school.

The donation is part of a plan

Joseph E. Merrion, president of the company, has developed to provide school facilities synchronized to the population growth of a new community.

Merrion's plan is based upon his success in helping new communities such as his City of Hometown establish schools.

Nobel Puffer, county superintendent of schools, recently wrote Mr. Merrion commending him on his past aid to the county school system.

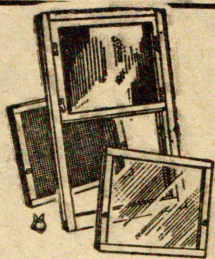

The Merrion plan has provided Country Club Hills School District 160 with ample classrooms even in the early stages of the community's development before school bonds are arranged.

Merrion has given the district use of a conveniently located permanent building containing two classrooms and the necessary facilities to augment another school building which existed before families began moving to Country Club Hills. He plans to make available a number of similar buildings grouped in a central location to expand the school facilities as soon as the need arises. The school district pays only a token rental for the use of these buildings.

Merrion's donation of land and the use of these buildings will give resident of this growing community sufficient time to float a school bond issue in Country Club Hills. In the which will provide a larger, meantime, these school buildings more completely equipped which we are making available school building than would otherwise be possible. able will enable the residents to avoid saddling themselves with a heavy financial burden which schools will be completed in would be way out of proportion plenty of time to meet the major needs of the young families with their current needs for school facilities.

Keep Writing! Urged

Demands from the voters for trimming the $71.8 billion budget, looking toward a tax cut, continue to pour in both to Congress and to the White House.

Members of Congress say the volume of mail is unprecedented, that it is generally spontaneous, that it reveals a surprising depth of feeling on the part of the voters.

Already this demand for economy in government has borne some fruit, the House of Representatives has made some cuts in appropriation bills.

A new appropriation bill will appear either in the House or Senate each week; so there will be opportunity for additional cuts.

Economy leaders advice to the voters is: Keep writing the White House and members of Congress urging reduction of the budget.

Meanwhile, President Eisenhower and Budget Director Brundage say they will seek to save money.

While defending his budget as a reflection of desires of the people, Mr. Eisenhower ordered an investigation to determine whether the rate of spending can be slowed down.

Although there was an enrollment of 77,733 engineering students in 1956, the U.S. Office of Education predicts a continued shortage of engineers and scientists through 1960.

Thornton Woods Yields Trove of Indian Relics

Members of the Sauk chapter of the Illinois State Museum led a party of 130 persons interested in archeology on a field trip last month to Thornton Woods. Armed with shovels and wire mesh to screen the sand, the naturalists were digging for Indian relics.

Among the relics discovered were pottery pieces, flint points grinding stone and fragments of bone, teeth and jaws of human and animals which the museum members will have fun identifying.

The pieces of pottery, altho not large, may have been storage pots, according to members.

Without even digging, one of the party discovered two perfect points and a large carnivore tooth. Many of the trophies will be exhibited in local store windows.

Twenty cars from Tinley Park joined in the Indian hunt and were met at the site by carloads of people from Chicago Heights, Flossmoor, and Blue Island.

From Tinley were Charles Moore of Cub Scout pack 272, fathers and sons from all 11 dens, and Mrs. Bauman, representing pack 255, with her sons. Mrs. Ethel Doerr, of Tinley and other members of the Sauk Museum group, brought children and friendly natives along.

The children in the group were especially excited about their finds.

At the February meeting of the Sauk group, Albert Lindert of Flossmoor, exhibited two bowls found at the Thornton Woods site, which were identified as burial dishes. They were found with the remains of a warrior in whose bones were embedded weapons which killed him.

The Illinois State Geological Survey is heading a fossil hunt on May 18, starting from Kankakee and going into the strip mines. These Mazon creek plant fossils are too old to date by the carbon-dating method, but are judged to be 250,000,000 years old. Few places in the world have as good plant fossils and they are just one hour's drive from Tinley.

The Sauk Museum chapter will meet April 16, at 17040 Oak Park ave., at 7:30 pm. to hear a talk on the fauna and flora of Northern Illinois.

The April field trip will be at Black Partridge Woods at 1:30 pm. April 28. Anyone interested in joining the group, are invited to come along.

Sam Really Hit The Jackpot on This Coon Hunt

JOHN W. ALLEN
Southern Illinois University

The tall stories of the pioneers had a strange way of surviving. They were passed down to the younger generations and often were carried along by the settlers who moved westward. The following story heard in Southern Illinois illustrates the westward movement of a "tall one." It is found among the hunting lore of Indiana and Ohio and also in that of states west of Illinois.

The locale and name of the hunter changes with the region. The story, however, remains basically the same. The incident related here is supposed to have happened in Rector Bottoms, a few miles south of Walpole in Hamilton county. Sam Prentiss, a hunter and trapper who related the story, lived in Saline county, just south of the Hamilton Saline line.

Each fall, Sam impatiently awaited the coming of winter and the hunting-trapping season. In the year when this incident occurred 100 years or so ago, the weather suddenly turned cold on an afternoon in late November and it began to snow. In a short time an untracked layer about four inches thick carpeted the ground and our hunter went happily to bed.

Sam rose early the next morning, ready to start out at day break. He first went to a cornfield at the edge of the bottoms to look for the tracks of coons. There he found the trail of one that evidently had feasted on the farmer's corn before holing up for the winter. Tracks indicated that it was a large one.

Our hunter decided to follow it to the den, cut the tree and secure a prime pelt.

In a very short time this trail was joined by another. Soon other trails came to join the ones he was following until it took on the appearance of a roadway three feet wide where the snow was packed "as smooth as a floor."

Sam followed this gradually widening trail for three miles or more until an enormous hollow sycamore tree more than eight feet in diameter came into sight.

Our hunter stopped and looked in amazement at the tree. It was moving. It would expand until Sam was sure that it was going to burst and then would shrink to about its normal size. He soon discovered the reason. The tree, hollow from the ground up, was full of coons. When they "took a deep breath" the tree naturally expanded. When they exhaled, it shrank.

Here was a modest fortune in coonskins, which were commanding a fair price at that time, and Sam naturally wanted to reap the harvest. To do so he must proceed with caution. If he began to chop the tree down the coons would naturally be aroused and would run away. He must use some other method.

At this point it occurred to Sam that he might be able to blast the gathered coons to death. He accordingly went back home, yoked his oxen to a wagon and drove several miles beyond the den tree to a stone quarry where he knew there were many kegs of stored powder. He loaded his wagon and hauled the powder to the tree. A dozen kegs or so were poured into the space the coons had left vacant at the base of the tree.

Not having any fuse long enough to safely set the charge off, Sam dug a small trench from the sycamore to a large oak 200 yards away and sprinkled a thin line of powder in it. Behind the shelter of this oak, Sam touched fire to the trail of powder. In a second or so the fire had raced along the powder in the trench and reached the tree. There was a terrific explosion and thousands of coons filled the air.

Sam immediately raced to the tree, only no tree was there. It had been blown to bits and dead coons littered several acres about the place where it had stood. Naturally many of the coons had been torn to bits by the force of the blast. Nevertheless, Sam vowed that he hauled away eleven wagon loads of good coons. He also insisted that coon fur continued to fall over the countryside for some days, being reported as far as six miles away.

After the first glow from his accomplishment, Sam ruefully admitted that he might have made a mistake. He had killed all the coons in his favorite great mistake. Sam had used hunting ground and hence must the proceeds of this mass slaughter wait several years before other ghter to purchase the south coons moved in and repopulated eighty of the farm he owned. If the area. On the other hand it anyone doubted his story, there might not have been such a was the farm to prove it.

that's THE LAW

A PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE

ILLINOIS STATE
BAR ASSOCIATION

In the law, there is a vast difference between the meaning of "domicile" and "residence." It is not unusual to find that a Florida resident has his domicile in Illinois. Technically, you are a "resident" of the state in which you are physically living, but you may have many successive residences and even several at the same time. However, the law says you have but one state of "domicile" and that is the state where you have your permanent home to which you intend ultimately to return.

Double Taxation Possible

It can become very important to determine what is your state of domicile, for tax and voting purposes, to determine how property should be distributed on death, and so forth. Many cases have been fought thru the courts over questions of residence and domicile. It has happened that estates have been subjected to full death taxes in several states because of confusion about the domicile of the deceased, with the result that the estates were almost completely expended in paying taxes.

Consider the case of Jack Logan, a schoolteacher. He and his wife Mary lived in Carbondale, Ill., for 15 years. When Mary died, Jack took a job teaching school in a little town in Minnesota. He kept the family house in Carbondale and returned there in the summers and sometimes during the Christmas holidays. He used a Carbondale, Ill., address as his home address on various business papers, and often mentioned in conversation that he intended to return permanently to Carbondale when he retired. He used an Illinois absentee ballot to vote.

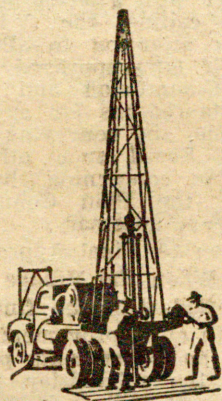

Evidence of Domicile

When Jack died, it became important to determine his state of domicile, for purposes of taxation and of distribution of his property, for he had left no will. Altho during most of the year Jack was a Minnesota resident, a court would be likely to find that he had maintained his domicile in Carbondale, Ill. All the things he did to retain connections to Illinois are evidence of his intention to return permanently sometime in the future, and that generally is the test of domicile.

If you travel extensively, or work in a state other than your home state, you have a problem of domicile that can be costly to you or your heirs if the evidences of your intention are not clear.

Churches Plan Services to Aid Cancer Drive

Spiritual approach to the fight to conquer cancer will be made by worshippers attending churches and synagogues in Will county during the 1957 Cancer Crusade.

As part of the current educational and fund raising crusade of the Will County Chapter of the American Cancer Society, Cancer Control Sunday will be observed Sunday, April 7 and Cancer Control Sabbath on Saturday, April 6.

Members of all faiths have been asked to offer prayers for divine guidance in the work to save man from this cruel disease.

Louis R. Peyla, Jr. of Joliet, said that spiritual leaders have been requested to devote part of their services to the Cancer Crusade.

"Few human problems can be solved without prayerful consideration," Mr. Peyla said. "Prayer can strengthen our will and inspire our efforts in this humanitarian crusade."

An appeal for co-operation from the clergy has been sent out from the Will Co. Chapter office to all clergy in Will county and Lemont expressing to them the need for their help in the undertaking to raise the necessary funds to support the cancer control program of research to learn the cause of cancer, education to save lives now, service to aid those suffering from cancer.

Here's what makes it a new kind of Ford

The frame is wider... wheels are lower

(Lets you ride sweet and low)

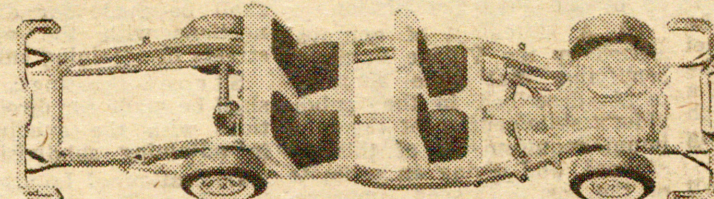

Never before has a low-priced car hugged the road so well. Partly, it's because the frame is sturdier. Partly, it's because the wheels are smaller. Partly, it's the way front and rear suspensions take tilt out of turns. Mostly, it's because there's a whole new smoother-riding quieter-going "Inner Ford."

The power is bigger

(Most power in Ford's 25 years of V-8 leadership)

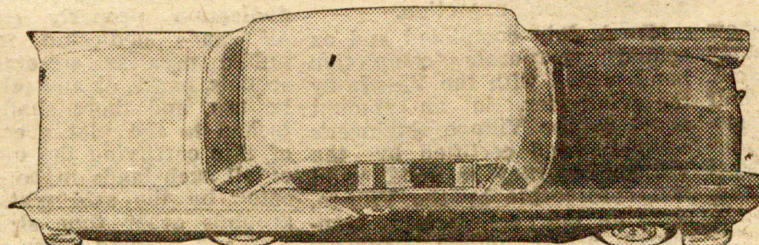

And what a V-8 engine! You can have the kind of Thunderbird power that smashed records at Daytona... set a new stock car mark at Indianapolis... traveled 50,000 miles in just 20 days at Bonneville, Utah!

The comfort is greater

(You've never had it so plush)

You sit in the lap of luxury. There's head room, hip room, leg room galore. And wait till you get a load of those new upholsteries and color schemes!

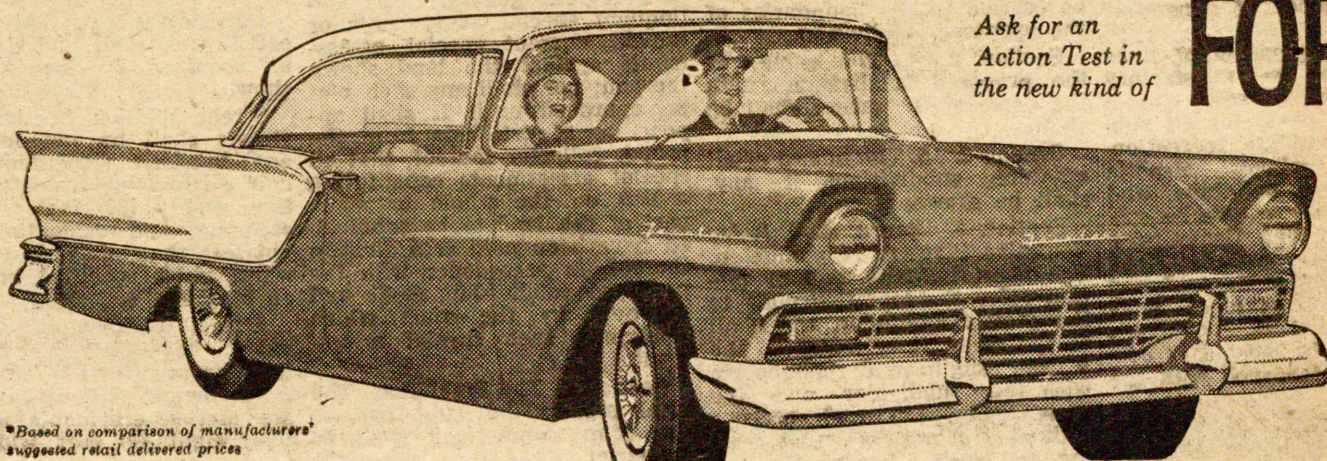

The body is "beefier"

(Up to 9 inches longer, 4 inches lower, with full head room, full road clearance)

From top to floor, front to rear, this body is built like a "battleship." You ride surrounded by new strength.

The Byrd Federal Budget

Senator Byrd has submitted a Byrd budget as against the $71.8 billion Eisenhower budget. The Byrd budget calls for $65.3 billion, which is a reduction of $6.5 billion from the Eisenhower budget. Were this reduction made, the groundwork would be laid for a nice tax cut for the American people.

Senator Byrd has been submitting a Byrd budget every year for many years—always calling for reduced spending, and pointing out where the reductions should be made. Byrd's economy voice has so far been "a voice crying in the wilderness." Perhaps this time it will be heard and heeded because of the flood of economy pleas now coming from the grassroots.

The proposed Byrd budget cuts are as follows:

1. National security appropriations can be cut $1.5 billion with out injuring the national security—by simply squeezing out the waste.

2. Foreign aid appropriations can be cut $2 billion because there are several billions of previous appropriations available which have not as yet been spent.

3. Domestic government activities can easily be cut $3 billion by simply eliminating all the authorizations for new public works, thereby preventing any "new" projects from being started.

Tax Reduction Means Pay Raise
If a tax reduction is given, every working man in America would get an automatic pay raise. A tax reduction would mean greater take-home pay for every worker.

When taxes are increased, take home pay is reduced. When taxes are reduced, take-home pay is increased.

This is the easiest, quickest, and most sensible way to give a pay raise to every American working man.

Well, why not do it?
The Record So Far

The house has passed five regular appropriation bills so far this year. The total appropriations carried in the five bills amounts to about $12 billion, and the amount cut from the budget items contained in these appropriation bills was $900 million, or a reduction of about 7%.

There remains about $60 billion of the budget still to be worked over. If the 7% cut already made is carried on, the total reduction that will be made in the $71.8 budget is $5 billion, which would mean a nice tax cut for the American people.

Let's do it!

Cut Spending and Taxes

Henry Hazlitt, a well known economist and writer, has suggested that congress dramatize reductions in the budget and tax cuts by tying them together. For instance:

If congress cuts foreign aid from the $5 billion requested in the budget to $2 billion, that can be done safely because of the billions appropriated last year for foreign aid that are yet unspent and still available—then ties this $3 billion reduction in spending to a $3 billion tax cut, it would make a veto of the spending cut almost impossible. This would bring home to the American people as never before what foreign aid is costing them.

Other tax cuts could be tied to other spending cuts with similar results.

Perhaps Hazlitt has something! What do you think?

Tollway Seeks Easements in Palos, Worth

(CNS) The Illinois state toll highway commission does not plan to make 87th street and Roberts road a dead end street.

This was disclosed in a condemnation suit filed Monday in circuit court.

The tollway commission wants a permanent easement for highway purposes in portions of 87th street and Roberts road along with reversionary interest now held by Palos and Worth townships.

For compensation, the condemnation suit offers to construct overpasses to carry the tri-state route of the toll highway system over 87th street and Roberts road.

The suit also seeks permanent easements on other streets. Some will become dead end streets and others will not. Wolf road in Lyons township is one that will not be a dead end. An overpass will carry the tollway over Wolf road.

The tollway commission also plans to construct an overpass carrying Plainfield over the toll way. Also another overpass will carry the south half of 55th street over the tollway.

After the commission wins permanent easements, the following streets will become dead ends where they meet the toll road: 82nd court; 83rd avenue; 83rd street; 83rd court; east half of 84th avenue; 70th street, Vine street; north half of the Lane road; west half of Spring street; Minneola street; Fuller road; Mills street; Bobolink drive; Justina street; 89th street; 78th avenue; 88th street, 79th ave., 87th place, 95th street and 82nd ave. The suit said 84th place would be partially closed.

Named co-defendants in the suit were Cook county; Lyons township; and Palos township.

Also, Lyons township supervisor, Kathryn K. Maley and its highway commissioner, Robert W. Peterson; Palos Township Supervisor Lincoln D. Munch, and its highway commissioner, Elmer C. Haas.

Business and Finance

Maurice P. Angland

A common complaint of investors is that the present period is one of too high security prices and also "uneasy" economic conditions. Too many financial commentators try to pick comparatively short cyclical swings in business and securities prices. No known successful formula for this purpose has ever been devised. It is always easier to do nothing than to seek out securities which have value and future growth. There never has been an obviously ideal time to invest except in Hindsight. Fortune Magazine did a research piece on organizations trying to pick cyclical swings in the market and the results published were not flattering to such "experts" and comparative results.

It must be agreed that common stock prices of today, show a very nice profit for many in the past ten years. However, human memory is short. Lets look at conditions from 1946 thru 1955.

1946-nation wide strikes in steel, coal and auto industries. Truman siezed the railroads to insure transportation in rail strike. Dire predictions for the whole economy.

1947-Labor situation serious. Taft Hartley Bill to regulate labor unions made the law. Truman asked for emergency powers to control labor unrest and effect on the national economy.

1948-Truman elected President. Foreign situation such that war was expected. Communists siezed Czechoslovakia and world wondered about Russia's next move.

1949-Turmoil in foreign situation caused creation of North Atlantic Defense organization by Western powers as protection against Russian aggression. Communists moved activity center to Asia and took over China.

1950-War in Korea! Events at this time certainly disturbing. U. S. again siezed the railroads.

1951-Communist activity in Near East reported at the danger point. Iran siezed its oil fields with world wide repercussions and a Premier who dramatized himself by doing business in his pajamas and with fainting spells when events displeased him. Congress passed Excess Profits Tax which was nearly a confiscation of corporate earnings. Wages frozen to attempt stopping inflation.

1952-Eisenhower elected President. Cost of Living Index hit its all time high up to this point.

1953-Stalin dies and speculation as to Russia's future course. Korean armistice finally arranged after months of haggling. Russia announced it had the Hydrogen Bomb and knew how to use it!

1954-Excess Profits Tax repealed. Democrats controlled Congress. Formosa situation boiling and China threatening with U. S. firm, but trying to avert another world war. Each week dangerous.

1955-The famous Eisenhower heart attack! Its effect on the securities markets are fairly well known as was a recent event.

Again, only in hindsight have there been ideal conditions for investment, but the whole economy continues to grow. Many shrewd investors have long practiced investing when funds are available and in the best situations of that period. This, of course, refers to investors as distinguished from the speculator.

The last ten years have shown that the holding of uninvested cash has proven to be very expensive in terms of loss of principal value thru decrease in purchasing power. Uninvested cash carried from 1946 thru 1955 shows a loss in purchasing power of 47 per cent.

Extension livestock specialists at the University of Illinois say that antibiotics generally have not stimulated gains nor reduced feed costs very much when grain makes up a large proportion of the ration for steers.

*Of course

without a dryer*

..but why - when ELECTRIC dryers cost so little, are fume-free, fast and thrifty!

Just 6¢ will dry
a big load electrically!

One of the wonderful things about having an electric dryer is that your clothes come out as fluffy and sweet-smelling as if you'd had them in the sun all day.

No musty basement odor. No fumes. Just clean, dry, radiant heat—like the sun gives.

All electric dryers are fully automatic (a good deal more dependable than the sun). Fast, too. You can dry a load of cottons in 25 to 30 minutes—and for only 6¢ worth of electricity!

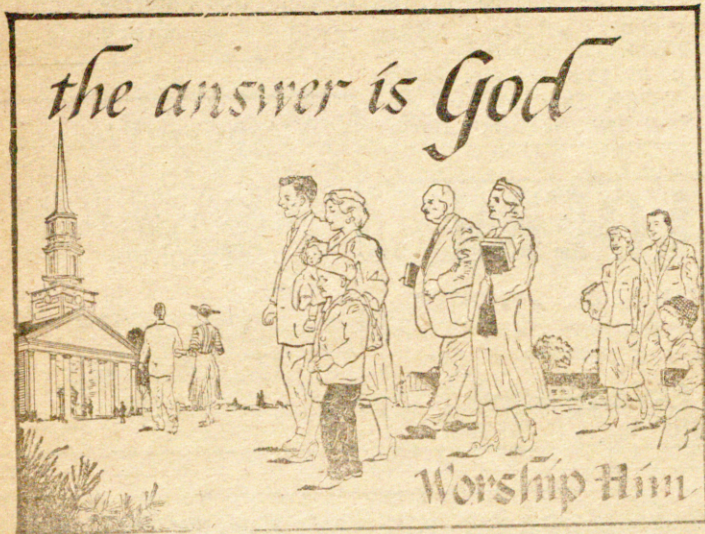

You'll notice that all the "no vent" dryers are electric. Heat, lint and moisture just disappear down the drain. Your laundry area stays clean, dry and comfortable.

Why not see your electric appliance dealer?

Public Service Company

Big Saving—ask your dealer about our Share-the-Cost Installation Plan. It's the low-cost way to get the modern 100-amp home wiring you need for today's electric living appliances. The Plan is available to qualified home owners on terms up to 2 years.

If you own an electric range, you save up to $25 on a new dryer! In fact if you have any 240-volt appliance your home probably has modern wiring already. This means the complete, installed price of your new electric dryer will be less than any other kind.

An Afterthought.

I'm glad I went to church today;
I'm glad I took the time away
From life's concerns and clamoring stress

To let material things take wings,
And set my mind on spiritual things.

I'm glad I went to church today.

The University of Illinois homes with that long, low look; college of agriculture will throw open its doors to high school seniors on Saturday, April 13, the annual student guest day.

Student guests will be given information about housing, scholarships, student jobs, social activities, and enrollment procedure.

A chicken barbecue will be served at noon.

Special sessions in agricultural journalism and dairy technology will be offered, and time will be provided for tours of the campus and visits with college personnel.

This is a grand opportunity for seniors to get a good look at the college of agriculture.

Home gardeners can have a good supply of green onions throughout the summer by timing plantings of onion sets. The round white onion set produces good green onions.

The round yellow onion set produces a good all around garden onion. You can expect a good yield of large onions which will keep well. This set also produces good green onions.

A new insect repellent for human use, diethyl toluamide, will be available soon. It can be applied to skin or clothing and will protect the wearer against mosquitos, chiggers, ticks, fleas and biting fleas.

This product should help make that camping or fishing trip, or just a backyard picnic, more enjoyable.

Landscaping is not just a matter of planting shrubs. If the foundation of your house is hardly noticeable, let the grass grow right up to the house in some places.

Under a picture window, for example, grass will give a more pleasing appearance and will not grow up and shut off the view.

A landscape tip for owners of ing needed lime and fertilizer.

2. Sowing adapted varieties of grasses and legumes on a well-prepared seedbed.

3. Practicing controlled and rotation grazing.

4. Clipping to remove tough, refused grass and to control weeds.

5. Planning pastures to provide good grazing over as long a season as possible.

Illinois' First Archivist to Retire April 15 After 34 Years Service

Miss Margaret C. Norton, Illinois' first archivist, internationally recognized as one of the outstanding members of her profession, will retire effective April 15, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, state librarian has announced.

Miss Norton was appointed to the newly established position on April 1, 1922, by the late Secretary of State Louis L. Emmerson, and has served under six secretaries of state, including Mr. Emmerson, William J. Stratton, Edward J. Hughes, Richard Yates Rowe, Edward J. Barrett and Mr. Carpenter.

In accepting her resignation, Secretary Carpenter praised Miss Norton particularly for her work in connection with the records management program, writing to her that "were it not for your good work that program might never have been inaugurated in Illinois."

"The records management program is turning out just as you predicted it would—one of the best programs the State of Illinois ever inaugurated," he wrote. "I am confident that the state will benefit down the years because of that fine program."

Miss Norton has twice been president of the Society of American Archivists, and in 1950 was one of its two delegates from the entire nation to represent the Society at the first International Congress on Archives held in Paris, France. For one term she was editor of the Society's publication, the American Archivist. For several years she was secretary-treasurer of the National Association of State Libraries.

As archivist, Miss Norton has been, by law, chairman of the state records commission since it was established in 1943. This is the group which has exclusive jurisdiction over the destruction of state records no longer considered worth keeping.

The Illinois archives program, as it has developed under Miss Norton's direction, and the Archives building are known throughout the world, and have attracted professional visitors from all parts of the globe.

There was little resembling a state archives when Miss Norton arrived in Springfield. Secretary of State George H. Harlow, who served from 1873 to 1881, was the first to recognize the importance of preserving records and had created the Department of Archives and Index to keep the records of his office. This department evolved into the present Index Division. Records of the offices of other state officials were widely scattered.

The state was especially anxious to locate the Governor's letter book for 1823, which contained evidence that the state had forwarded to the federal government the Post and Paul survey map of the Illinois and Michigan canal route.

Within a month after her arrival, Miss Norton found it in a sub-basement vault under the east steps of the capitol building in an area which was used as a depository for sweepings. Enrolled laws, liberally interspersed with cigarette butts, were also there.

In a sixth floor attic room she noticed a package protruding from a ventilator. She climbed a rickety ladder, extracted the package and, upon opening it, found the official territorial census of 1818, the census which was taken to prove that Illinois had sufficient population to become a state. It contained the names of all heads of families living in the territory.

In a vault in the office of the department of registration and education she found the records of general assembly actions during the period when Abraham Lincoln was a member. This was a particularly valuable find, because all papers bearing the signatures of Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas had been removed from Illinois records known to exist at that time.

There was no concrete floor in the basement of the Capitol building then, and dust was four inches deep. Miss Norton wore a black smock and tied up her hair to give some degree of protection, but she still waited until others in the building had left for the day before emerging to clean up. During those searching excursions, she went armed with a piece of lead pipe to bang on various objects to discourage the "largest rats I have ever seen," who resented her intrusion.

The archives division of the Illinois state library came into existence in 1921, when the general assembly passed a general reorganization of the Library, but at that time it could accept only records of the Secretary of State's office. In 1925, legislation was passed permitting other state officials to turn their records over to the archives.

The destruction of the state arsenal by fire in 1934, causing the loss of World War I records of the adjutant general, aroused demand for safe preservation of important state documents, and led to the construction of the Archives building, which was dedicated in 1938.

At that time there were only two other archives buildings in the country, one in Maryland and one in Washington, D. C. housing the National Archives. Both of those buildings were built before the archivist was appointed, so the Illinois Archives building is the first in the nation designed and constructed with the consultation and advice of an archivist.

Miss Norton was born and reared in Rockford. She earned her bachelor's and master's degrees in history at the University of Chicago and held a fellowship in history at that university. She is a graduate of the old New York state library school, now a part of Columbia university.

She was employed in the Vassar college library, the department of Indiana history of the Indiana State library and the State Historical Society of Missouri before taking the position of archivist of Illinois. She also taught archives at Columbia university during one summer session.

Miss Norton is an honorary member of both the Society of American Archivists and the National Association of State Libraries; a member of the American Historical Association and served on its public records commission, which was the predecessor of the Society of American Archivists; a member of the Illinois Historical Society; a life member of the Mississippi Valley Historical Association; a member of the Association for State and Local History and Zonta International; a past matron of Abraham Lincoln chapter, Order of Eastern Star. She is the author of many articles on archives for professional publications.

Miss Norton plans to tour Europe this fall and will reside in Springfield upon her return.

CARL SANDEURG
HIGH SCHOOL
by Hilda Geuther
Take Verbal Trip

Students of the Spanish classes of Carl Sandburg high school are not only learning to read the language and write it grammatically, but they are putting it to practical use.

Second year Spanish students have taken a verbal trip south of the border to Mexico by means of conversations and skits which they have developed and performed in their classes. They have "traveled" by car and are able to identify traffic signs, know how to ask direction, and, in the event of car trouble, can name the parts of the car in Spanish. They know how to register at a hotel and what things they need to make their stay a comfortable one. Most important of all, they know the names of a large variety of foods, having made their own menus and gone through the motions of eating in "restaurants."

The study of the language, culture, and customs of our Latin American neighbors has brought about an understanding of these people and a feeling of kinship, for much of the history of our own country is bound with that of the Spanish speaking people. Thus, Pan Americanism is learned in the classroom.

On Thursday, April 11, members of the Language Club at Carl Sandburg will join the Spanish students in a Pan American celebration in which several Spanish customs will be depicted.

Gets Navy "Wings"

Navy Lt. (jg) Norman L. Haney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark M. Haney of 6325 W. 175th st., Tinley Park, Ill., has his "Wings of Gold" of a Naval Aviator pinned on by his wife the former Miss Elsie L. Olson of 7003 Ft. Hamilton Parkway, Brooklyn, N. Y., at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., March 1.

Haney was among the initiates of the new program of early designations of Naval Aviators. Now Naval Aviators receive their wings upon completion of 10 weeks of advanced training and 200 hours of flight time.

Before entering the flight program in October 1955, he attended Morgan Park high school, Chicago.

Tuesday evening, April 2, with Mrs. Joseph Kaiser, president, presiding.

The second grade won the award for the most parents attending. It was decided at the business meeting that the PTA sponsored skating parties would be continued at the skaters risk. Signs, to that effect, will be posted in the gym.

Mrs. Hans Bader, program chairman, introduced Eugene Paschall, president of the board of education, who in turn introduced other members of the board and Zay Smith, architect for the proposed addition to the school.

A question and answer period followed with Mr. Smith showing progress sketches of the new addition.

The discussion concluded with the PTA voting to back the proposed building plans by the board of education.

Refreshments were served by the second grade mothers with room mothers Mrs. Foster Myrick and Mrs. Harold Shroats in charge.

Increases of 60 per cent in the number of Illinois licensed hunters and 80 percent in fishermen have occurred since 1945, according to Director Glen D. Palmer of the Department of Conservation.

This mounting desire for places to fish and hunt can be satisfied only by spending more money, Palmer says. He favors enactment of pending General Assembly bills which would add $1 to the charge for resident hunting and fishing licenses.

Several of our neighbors have recently returned from vacations spent in the sunny southland. Mr. and Mrs. Chris Manos were in Florida and Dallas, Texas where they visited with their daughter and her family. The Manos, like the rest of their vacationing neighbors luckily arrived home before the tornados struck in the south. The Manos family put a good many miles on their new car on their month-long motor trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Arth Arnold spent two week at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. In case you haven't seen "Dot" lately she has an "over-ripe" tan!

The Jack Nelsons and daughter Janine drove to Miami, Fla., where they spent the day and then flew to Nassau in the Bahamas where they spent several days. Upon returning to Florida they spent the remainder of their vacation in Ft. Lauderdale where they were neighbors to the "Arnolds". Janine spent most of her waking hours in the pool at the motel and learned how to dive and swim.

It's quite lonesome at the Brown's home this week as Mrs. Brown's parents have left for their home in Australia after a six month's visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. William Murphy's house guests this past week were Mr. and Mrs. R. El-dred of Detroit, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. "Mike" Riel of Manchester, New Hampshire are visiting at the home of her brother, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Woodbury.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Woodbury are hoping to be able to move into their new home in Des Plaines shortly.

Two weeks ago Mrs. H. L. Woodbury gave a demonstration party in her home, many neighbors attended and all had a lovely afternoon. Mrs. Francis Woodbury baked a delicious lemon fluff cake for the occasion. Several games were played with prizes awarded.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tabbert's dog Donna has seven German Shepherd puppies. They are two week old.

Correction: Mr. and Mrs. John Tabbert are planning to live in Sarasota, Fla., for six months and if the summers are not too uncomfortable, will make their home there permanently.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Cotter plan to leave Laguna in June as they have sold their home to Mr. and Mrs. Hall of Mt. Prospect. The Halls have two teen-age boys, however, before moving to Laguna the Halls have a home in Mt. Prospect to sell.

Mrs. Eckel and children were confined in their home recently, recovering from a seige of Scarletina, all are fine now.

Janine Nelson modeled at the Cinderella fashion show at St. Michael's school last Friday evening. Janine modeled six dresses and is becoming quite a professional.

The Cub Scouts of den 3 took a new Laguna Woods member last Thursday at Pack night. An Indian ceremonial was put on by Den 3 to welcome in Rhett Brown. Charles Harris beat the tom-tom during the ritual and Dennie Peppie dressed in Indian head-piece, was chief. Charles and Dennie will be going into the Boy Scouts next year.

Letter to the Editor

To The Editor:
Don't we ever learn? History repeated! Strange how it has occurred and right in our own Tinley Park—and at this season of the year when we—or many of us—are reflecting on the mission, the suffering and death of our Lord and Saviour.
Because some the the leading Jews of that far away day, did not like Paul's teaching, history tells us: "moved with envy, took unto them certain lewd fellows of the baser sort, and gathered a company, and set all the city on an uproar, and assaulted the house of Jason, sought to bring them out to the people." Read it, Acts 17, verse 5.
I bow my head in shame that history was repeated. That happened in Greece hundreds of years ago. But how like it was which took place—where? Right in our own Tinley Park Monday night. You who were not there, should have been. You would have seen and heard something.
Seems like, that because a group of good thinking people of Tinley Park with good moral and intelligent stamias have been and still are, working to benefit themselves? NO! To benefit Tinley Park securing an area into which industry could be brought to us, in order to ease our tax burdens, thru its added tax; and because our local Tinley Park Times (more power to it) has come out in support of this idea as it seemed to the editors a wise step forward, some have chosen, and drastically so—to oppose this plan. Makes me now wonder who this is to benefit.
These people, well maybe we too could say were 'moved with envy' have chosen to locate the proposed new high school in Tinley Park, that is fine. But where? In several good areas? No, right in the midst of this area which has been set by the Plan commission as industrial sites.
So, they called a meeting. An education meeting. And where, in our school's large auditorium or gym, or village hall? No, in a tavern.
Now I am not saying a tavern is good or bad, I do know many things do go on in taverns that are not becoming good moral people. But as long as we have spent our money for good schools in Tinley Park, to my way of thinking that is where this meeting should have been held and many more would have felt free to attend.
The board members of the Bremen high school were all seated on the platform—yes there they were—with a Tinley resident and secretary, William Libbert, presiding. And how did they preside, our educators? In a democratic way? NO. They only allowed those to speak whom they wanted to speak, who it seemed to me to be in accord with the board's and their leader's opinion.
There were moments when the silly actions of some of the participants made it almost funny, like, for instance, when pipsqueak ran about the hall waving an issue of The Tinley Park Times before the gathering and yelling that this was the paper who dared to oppose this board's plan for the school by saying editorially to vote NO on this site question.
Statements of 'free Press' etc. soon aroused an uproar and the presiding officer seemed not to try to correct it.
One woman was able to speak and asked why the meeting was being held in the tavern, and Mr. Birkhead stated because the local school was not large enough. There were about 100 at the meeting in the tavern.
Many of us are waiting for industry to come to our area,

EDITORIAL

VOTE "NO" ON HIGH SCHOOL SITE

Voters of Bremen township who have the interest of the Bremen high school district at heart will go to the polls this Saturday, April 13, and vote NO in the referendum on the selection of a school site.
The high school board would locate the school on 175th street, just where it would block the industrial development planned for Tinley Park.
It has been pointed out to the board repeatedly that engineers and professional community planners are certain, that given room as planned, industry will come to Tinley Park in the near future. They estimate that when industrialized the area between the Rock Island tracks and 183rd street for a width of approximately six blocks will have an equalized assessed valuation of about $110,000,000 or twice the amount of the current equalized valuation of the township.
Such a valuation would give the high school district additional bonding power of 5½-million dollars and if the board builds a couple more school as planned it is going to need such valuation.
It is difficult to understand why a group of men who are supposed to have some degree of business intelligence would deliberately select a school site in a location that would block the industrial progress of Bremen township in general and Tinley Park in particular.
Steadfastness of purpose is one thing—bullheadedness is another.
Locating a school in what has been zoned as industrial property on the master plan of Tinley Park just doesn't make sense in our book.
We think the Bremen high school board should consult men whose training and work have made them experts in the location of school plants before rushing in to buy a site that they admit will not be used for at least five years.
Many things can happen in five years that would change the picture. Bremen township is in for many changes in the next decade. Completion of the Calumet-Sag channel and the St. Lawrence seaway are expected to bring a vast boom to the southwest portion of Cook county and Bremen township lies in the path.
School authorities in Tinley Park estimate that in 1960-61 there will be approximately 800 youths of high school age in Tinley Park should the population of the community become 10,000 by that time.
The present high school, when the addition is completed, will house approximately 2,000 students. The high school board doesn't want the enrollment to go beyond that figure in any one plant. We think they are right in that. The board is now talking of building two more schools and it is our understanding each will be planned to meet a maximum enrollment of 2,000.
Tinley leaders believe there are other areas in the district that will expand at a greater pace than Tinley Park and that the next school should be planned to meet such needs. For instance the next school might be better placed closer to the Merriam development known as Country Club Hills.
Eventually the Tinley Park area will need a high school and in another five years it is hoped the district may be in better financial position to build one.
Right now the board's talk about building two high school that presumably would cost a couple of millions each is like a man making a wil to dispose of millions when he doesn't have a dime.
Vote NO on the school site proposal in the referendum this Saturday.
so that we need not go away from our homes to work. I have heard this group say, in a belittling way, that these men who are working for industry, have a nice dream. I think it too bad that the 'uproar incitors' do not have such good dreams but seek to rule or ruin by arousing discord as displayed Monday night—shame on them forever.
I have heard several people since Monday night's meeting say they would like to move away from Tinley Park into an area of good intelligent thinking people. I am ashamed of Monday night and never again will I vote for any of those now on that high school board and

Our only interest in this matter is the future of Tinley Park and its people. We are not in the real estate business. We are looking the situation objectively and practically.

Unless Tinley Park gets industry few persons will be able to afford to own a home there because of mounting tax bills that now must be borne exclusively by home owners.

Explains Process of Applying For Social Security Benefits

You, the worker, or your survivors must file for social security benefits in all cases to establish the right to receive such benefits. Benefit claims can be processed much quicker when proof of age, proof of earnings and social security card are brought in at the time of filing, according to Cornelius R. Schafer, Manager, Harvey office.

First, be sure that you have your social security account number card with you when you come in to file, Schafer stated. If you have lost your card, bring a record of your number.

Also, documentary proof of age is required in many cases. A birth certificate is the best evidence. If you do not have a birth certificate, other documents, the older the better, may be substituted, such as baptismal or confirmation certificates, family Bible, life insurance policies, school or lodge records. This proof is required for each person filing as a wife, widow, child or parent. Occasionally, it is required for the worker.

The worker should bring his W2 for 1956. Self-employed persons are required to furnish complete copies of their 1955 and 1956 federal income tax returns (1040, Schedule F or Schedule C, and 1065 if a partnership). These copies will be retained by the social security office. Therefore, you should prepare extra copies from your 1955 and 1956 file copies. This evidence of earnings is needed to give your social security account credit for the earnings for these years.

In addition to the tax returns, the self-employed person should bring with him evidence of payment of the tax, such as a cancelled check or a receipt of purchase of cashiers check or bank draft made out to the Director of Internal Revenue.

When our office receives all of the above information on the claimant's first trip, Schafer concluded, we can get his first benefit check to him much quicker.

Will Get Lake And Cash From Tollway Work

(CNS)—A 25 acre artificial lake will be created in Beaubien Woods south of 130th street and west of the Calumet expressway north of the Little Calumet River under a contract approved by Forest Preserve District Tuesday.

What is called "borrow pits" will be dug up at the site consisting, mostly of sand. The work will be done by the Saia Motor Trucking and Excavating Co., of Chicago Heights.

The sand will be used in connection with the construction of Chicago's toll road on the far south side. The forest preserve district will be paid $45,000.

"We'll end up with a good lake," said Forest Preserve Superintendent Sauers.

"This is a favorable contract from our standpoint. We will get a lake and money besides." He said the tollway commission will pay the district. Sauers said the excavation will be made into a lake by the contractors. The lake will be stocked with bass and blue gill said Sauers.

Many demands have been made on the forest preserve district for fishing places close to home, Sauers said. "Many times a fellow wants a place close to home, where he can fish after work or on his day off," said Sauers.

State Treasurer Elmer J. Hoffman said today that the amount in the Illinois unemployment trust fund totalled $467,826,922.92 as of the close of state business on March 31.

Hoffman added that the State also has on hand $446,287,600 in government securities to insure the deposit of state funds in more than 600 banks in Illinois.

The March report of the state treasurer's office also shows $240,597,684.87 is held in safekeeping for various retirement systems of the state.

Also held under control of the state treasurer's office are $362,750,000 in United States government securities as an investment of the Illinois state toll highway commission.

Treasurer Hoffman said that the state's earnings from Jan. 1 to March 31 on investments and funds on deposit in banks are $885,992.51 as compared to $710,175.34 for a like period in 1956.

The shipping mines of Illinois produced 4,617,347 tons of coal during January, an increase of 415,646 tons over December, according to the state Department of Mines and Minerals.

January production came from 52 strip mines which turned out 1,947,768 tons, and 72 shaft mines that hoisted 2,669,579 tons.

Across The Counter . . .

"I'd like you to review my auto insurance and tell me if you think I have the right amounts," said a man who came to the office recently. "I'm John Johnstone," he continued, "and I have my insurance with a direct writing company. but it's about to expire. Look it over," he handed me a policy.

He had $50 deductible collision, and $10,000/$20,000 Liability coverage. In answer to questions, I learned he drove his car 15,000 miles or more a year with frequent guests.

"In view of what you say," I said, "I'd recommend higher limits of liability coverage. And also the medical payments feature which pays the medical expenses of anyone injured in your car, including yourself, up to the specified limit."

"Sounds good," Mr. Johnstone replied, "and no doubt it is logical. But we're on a rather tight budget. I don't think we can afford it."

"Then, do this," I replied. "Use $100 deductible collision. The difference of $20 in premium will pay for the medical payments coverage and buy higher limits of liability. You'll be better protected at no extra cost."

"Fine," said Mr. Johnstone. "Write it up." Let us analyze your automobile insurance for you!

and most effective methods of rodent-baiting with rodenticides such as warfarin, are discussed.

The Foundation announced that copies of the book are being distributed to agricultural leaders thru state extension specialists, 4H and FFA administrators, and that additional copies are available from officials of the Branch of Predator and Rodent Control, U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, or from the Foundation.

Copies of the book will be furnished without charge to any community group staging a rodent control program, and requests should be mailed to the Educational Department, Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation, P. O. Box 2217, Madison, Wis.

The Foundation owns patents on warfarin, the anticoagulant rodenticide discovered at the University of Wisconsin, in the laboratories of Karl Paul Link, who worked with Drs. Mark A. Stahmann and Myoshi Ikawa in perfecting the material. Warfarin, which has had an outstanding performance record since its introduction seven years ago, is now generally available thru out the country under various trade names.

AREA VOTERS

ing will be from 12 noon to 7 o'clock.

Haven school will also serve as a polling place for New Lenox township voters in the Lincoln Way high school board election. The other polling places in the high school election will be at Frankfort and Mokena (Carpenter st.) village schools and the Manhattan village school. The same voting hours will prevail, noon to 7 pm.

There are but three candidates in the high school election and there are three places to be filled. Those running are all incumbents, Lawrence Kohl, Mokena; Albert H. Krusemark, Jr., Frankfort and Lorin Schleeter, Manhattan.

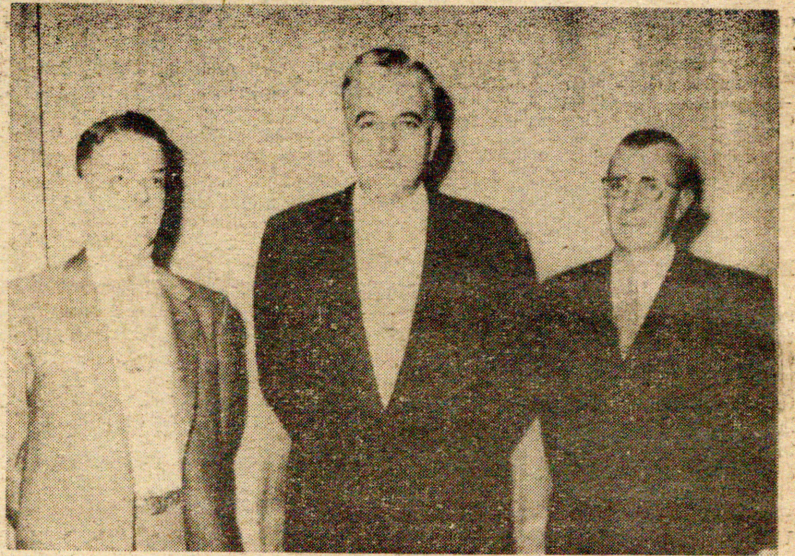

There is a contest in the Frankfort village school election. Lester Heisner and Carl Marienfeld are seeking re-election to the two posts to be filled this spring. There is another candidate, Wilbur Hossbach.

The new district of the area, 56-C, made up of the former Ann Rutledge and Gatter districts, will hold its first election. The new district will be administered by a seven member board instead of directors. There will be no contest in this first election. Seven candidates have been nominated, Calvert Heath and Frank Kovar, who were directors on the Gatter board; John L. Van Donk, Geo. H. Kaehler and Charles Jones, who served as directors for Ann Rutledge school and Don Ball and Lee Gericke.

Ann Rutledge school will serve as the polling place, hours noon to 7 pm.

The Schmuhl school district will elect one director and the school, which will serve as the polling place, will be open as such from 3 to 5 pm. Schmuhl voters also will pass on the proposal to increase the maximum educational rate from 71 cents to 92 cents per $100 equalized

Candidates For Clerk, Magistrate

Previous issues have carried pictures of the candidates for mayor and trustees of Tinley Park. The photograph above shows two of the candidates for village clerk and one who is running for police magistrate. The two candidates for clerk are Lester F. Rabenau (left) now building inspector, and Victor C. Propp, who is now serving on the boards of the Tinley public and the Zion Lutheran schools. At the right is Charles McDonald, a candidate for police magistrate. The other candidate for magistrate, Joseph Lucas, a justice of the peace for the past four years, was not available when this picture was taken. (Tinley Times Photo) tion appropriate for children.

The two pastors will alternate with the services and the theme will center on Jesus, "In Our Church," "In Our Homes," "And Our Gifts," "And Our Friends."

In Mokena the Rev. Jerald Jackson, pastor of the Methodist church, and the Rev. Mr. Riemann, will conduct the joint youth chapel services for the two churches.

They will be conducted at St. John's church, Monday thru Wednesday from 8:15 to 8:45 and on Thursday and Friday from 9 to 9:30 o'clock. The committee in charge is made up of the Mesdames Frederick Clark, Wesley Cappel, Fred Ricketts and Berle Teague. Other chapel leaders are the Mesdames Riemann, Elias Brown, and Charles Swanberg. Miss Gayle Harling will be the accompanist for the singing.

At New Lenox the services will be held from 8:15 to 8:45 a.m. beginning Monday with the Rev. Mr. Martin in charge.

These chapels are sponsored by the Will County Ministers' Association. All children, regardless of creed, are welcome as are parents and teachers.

Rats Cost U.S. Billion a Year, Say Researchers

Rats cause a billion dollars worth of damage annually to U. S. food, property, human beings and livestock—the production of more than 100,000 average American farms. This fact is brought out in a new booklet published by the Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation (WARF).

Commenting on the rodent problem, George P. Larrick, U. S. Commissioner of Food and Drugs, recently pointed out:

"Contamination of food by rodents is a major source of violations of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act. Every year hundreds of court actions make this charge, and thousands of tons of food must be seized because the presence of rodent filth has made it unfit for human consumption."

"Effective rodent control," he added, "is needed at all levels of food production and distribution. It is a first line of defense in our efforts to keep foods safe and clean."

Eight months in preparation, the new WARF book represents a most readable and authoritative source of information on rodent control.

The first section of the new book discusses the rodent problem; the second provides specific instructions on how to run a community campaign.

Rock Island to Decorate Depot

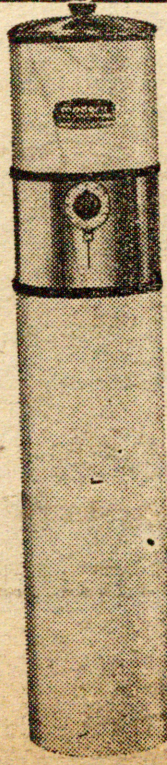

by Whitney Carter

Vandals for the past year have endeavored to wreck the Mokena Rock Island station by carving and writing obscene words upon the walls and other parts of the building which has necessitated a complete decorating program thruout that is now in progress. When completed commuters and residents of the community may register surprise in the appearance which again makes the Mokena station one of the most outstanding of the Rock Island system.

An entirely new color scheme has been worked out that is a bit unusual for railroad stations. Interior colors of light and dark green with some black enamel trim. Furniture and fixtures a dark maroon to match the composition floor.

Later when weather conditions permit the company is considering enlarging the parking space south of the station to accomodate the increased number of automobiles used by suburban passengers.
